Love Story

For the love story to be the best it can be please include as many of the details as is possible. Remember the “who, what, where, when, why and how” of the important events. Remember to work alone. It makes it much better if you do not work with your fiancé. Here are some questions to work from, but feel free to tell us more than just this information!

When did you two first meet, and what was the occasion?

What was your first impression(s) of your fiancé?

Where was your first date? How did it go?

What did your friends and family say about your fiancé?

What was your favorite dating memory?

When did you fall in love, and realize you would/should be married?

When and how did the engagement take place? Was there a ring? Were the bride's parents asked first?

Was the engagement too soon, too late, or right on time? Was it a surprise?

Is there anything that stands out that you did not mention yet?
